The NEBOSH HSE Certificate in Health and Safety Leadership Excellence qualification is developed in conjunction with the health and safety regulator for Great Britain, the Health and Safety Executive (HSE).

The interactive, thought provoking content shows how leaders can influence health and safety performance and culture through their actions and behaviours.

Why should senior leaders take the Health and Safety Leadership Excellence qualification?

Effective health and safety performance comes from the top. It isn't just the responsibility of the health and safety department.

Health and safety law places duties on organisations and employers, and directors can be personally liable when these duties are breached. Failure to manage health and safety as a key business risk in board decisions can have catastrophic results. Many high-profile safety cases over the years have been rooted in failures of leadership.

Protecting the health and safety of employees and others who may be affected by an organisation's activities is therefore an essential part of managing corporate risk and must be led effectively.

What will I be able to do after taking this qualification?

- Positively influence health and safety performance and culture in your workplace
- Apply the Health and Safety Executive's model for effective health and safety leadership
- Reflect on your own health and safety leadership style and what can influence your decision making and subsequent behaviours
- Understand the link between effective health and safety leadership and reaching cultural safety excellence

What will my employer gain from this qualification?

- Leadership that reflects HSE's model of effective health and safety leadership
- Health and safety will be factored into business decisions in the future
- Leaders who recognise how their own behaviours impact on health and safety culture

What does the course cover and how is it assessed?

The one day qualification covers the following topics:

- What health and safety leadership means
- The moral, legal and business reasons for good health and safety leadership
- The links between health and safety leadership and culture
- What the different leadership styles are
- How human failures can impact performance and culture
- The HSE's model of effective health and safety leadership
- How leaders can build effective relationships with the workforce

The assessment will be in the form of reflective statements. These will show how the learner's knowledge, skills and behaviours may have both positive and negative effects on health and safety performance in their organisation.

Learners will also need to make a commitment to a leadership intervention that will improve health and safety management within their sphere of workplace influence.

"Organisations tend to do whatever their senior leaders highlight as their top priorities. To have the greatest influence, leaders need to demonstrate their commitment to health and safety and drive this agenda through their organisation. Good safety is good for business!"
