Qualification overview

Who is the qualification designed for?

The NEBOSH HSE Certificate in Health and Safety Leadership Excellence (HSL) is designed to support leaders and aspiring leaders to gain a core understanding of how their behaviours and responsibilities directly impact health and safety management.

Syllabus development and review

The syllabus has been reviewed and revised by NEBOSH and the HSE following input from key employers, learners, Learning Partners, and subject-matter experts.

Benefits for you

The HSL looks at the factors and variables that can influence a person's ability to lead effectively. While also highlighting that health and safety is not just of moral importance, but also contributes to the achievement of objectives across the organisation, covering finance, operations, compliance, and governance.

Upon completion of the qualification, you will be able to:

- Positively influence the health and safety performance and culture of your workplace;
- Apply the Health and Safety Executive's leadership values for effective health and safety leadership;
- Demonstrate a range of appropriate leadership styles;

- Understand the influences of mental shortcuts, biases, habits, and beliefs on decision-making;
- Recognise indicators that assure the effective management of health and safety; and
- Recognise the impact of human failure on health and safety culture.

Benefits for your employer

When you have achieved the HSL, you will make a real difference to the way things are done in your organisation. You will have the knowledge, understanding, and skills to implement valuable leadership techniques in the workplace, remain mindful of human failures, and build relationships with your colleagues. You will be able to help promote and influence a positive health and safety culture within your workplace.

Achieving the qualification

The NEBOSH HSE Certificate in Health and Safety Leadership Excellence is assessed in the form of reflective statements which will be undertaken throughout the course.

Re-sitting unit(s)

You may re-sit a unit if a 'Refer' result is received. There is no limit to the number of times you can re-sit units. A refund will not be given if you register to re-sit a unit before an original result is known.

Great leaders never stop learning

Neil Fisher is currently a Health and Safety Practitioner at Network Rail. He is also an aspirational leader and an advocate of continuous lifelong learning, which he hopes will now take him to the next stage of his career.

“The Leadership Certificate is different to the other NEBOSH qualifications I’ve taken previously,” Neil told us. “You could say the others are more technical, which has really helped me in the practitioner roles I have had to date. The Leadership Certificate focuses more on increasing your personal impact as a leader in a health and safety context. For an aspiring leader like me, understanding how my actions and behaviours can affect performance, will only help me to champion health and safety better in the future.”

He added: “On the course, I was sat with a finance director and a managing director from other companies and it was fascinating to get their perspective. I have to say, we all took a lot from the day and I am sure the experience will help us be better influencers in the future.”

Individual learner feedback

For more information on the assessment feedback provided for this qualification, please visit the NEBOSH website:
